I. Description:

This course introduces students to the documents and content of Christian theological reflection. It surveys the doctrines of revelation, the triune God, Christology, and anthropology. Care is taken to explore the application of theology to contemporary issues of Christian life and ministry.

II. Course Objectives:

Note: Given the introductory nature of this course and the professional degree track (MDiv and MTS) of the majority of its students most of the doctrines and issues covered will be those from within traditional evangelicalism, but not necessarily limited to them.

A. Knowing:

1. Know a range of Christian perspectives on the following: revelation, cosmology, Christology, pneumatology, anthropology.
2. Know key Christian thinkers and theological traditions (mid-term and final exams).

B. Being:

1. Appreciate that theology is a dynamic and contextual effort to discern appropriate ways to embody the redemption revealed in Jesus Christ.
2. Embrace a deeper sense of your own theological vision vis-à-vis other Christian theological trajectories.
3. Appreciate the value of “generous orthodoxy.”

C. Doing:

1. Compare and contrast a variety of distinct theological viewpoints.
2. Participate in the dynamic and personal nature of theology.
3. Develop the ability to engage in the process of constructive theological reflection.
4. Distinguish between the essentials and non-essentials of the Christian faith; particularly as this relates to cultural expressions of Christianity.

III. Required Text(s):

- A. Grenz, Stanley J., Guretzki, David, and Nordling, Cherith Fee. Pocket Dictionary of Theological Terms. Downers Grove, Ill.: InterVarsity Press, 1999.
- B. Two systematic theology texts: one should reflect the Christian tradition you most embody and the second an alternative one—e.g., if you are an evangelical (e.g., Baptist, CMA) Stanley Grenz's Theology for the Community of God reflects your tradition and Amos Yong's The Spirit Poured Out on All Flesh represents the Pentecostal tradition. See the bibliography for further ideas.
- C. Selections for Book Reflection Essay:
- Choose one of the following books for the Book Reflection Essay
- Annie Dillard, Pilgrim at Tinker Creek (1974; New York: HarperPerennial, 1998).
- Anne Lamont, Traveling Mercies: Some Thoughts on Faith (New York: Pantheon, 1999).
- Brian D. McLaren, A Generous Orthodoxy: Why I am a missional . . . (El Cajon, Calif.: Youth Specialties, 2006).
- Donald Miller, Blue Like Jazz: Nonreligious Thoughts on Christian Spirituality (Nashville: Thomas Nelson, 2003) or Searching for God knows What (Nashville, Tenn.: Thomas Nelson, 2004).
- James Torrance, Worship, Community, and the Triune God of Grace (Downers Grove: InterVarsity Press, 1996).

IV. Course Performance Criteria:

V. Assignment Descriptions:

General Guidelines:

- Electronic copies in MS Word preferred; alternatively, all hard copies should be stapled and submitted with a cover sheet. if you are unable to be in class on the due date because of a foreknown absence; please submit an electronic copy on the due date or a hard copy before the due date.
- Papers and assignments may be submitted early for feedback from the professor and resubmitted on the due date for grading.
- All assignments marked according to the Grading Criteria Form attached to the syllabus
- All papers and assignment should conform to (and will be marked against) the MacDiv Style Guide (<http://www.macdiv.ca/students/documents/MacStyleGuideApr1508.pdf>).

A. Quizzes:

Exams provide an opportunity to demonstrate mastery of theological terms, concepts, and distinctions between various doctrines and/or systems of theological thought. They utilize objective and/or short-answer and essay questions. The exams/quizzes consist of approximately twenty to thirty questions. Study guides will be provided.

1. First quiz: objective &/or short answer/essay (DUE October 19)
2. Second quiz: objective &/or short answer/essay (DUE November 30)

B. Book Reflection Essay (DUE October 5):

- This assignment provides the opportunity to explore the ways theology intersects with and informs contemporary considerations on Christian thought and life.
- Select one of the books from the list of selections for Book Reflection Essay (e.g., Lamont, Dillard, Miller).

1. Content:

- Write a descriptive and reflective essay.
- It should include elements such as the following:
 - a. A description of the book's thesis. That is, what is the primary point(s) advanced by the author? Describe its vision of Christianity: What are the key terms you can use to summarize it? What are the key ideas? What are the central arguments or supporting ideas?
 - b. Your personal interaction and assessment of the book:
 - Do you think it is correct?

- Is its vision of the Christian life viable, helpful, and constructive?
- Is the argument(s) and/or criticism fair or does it overstate its criticisms?

c. Additional points of consideration and interaction:

- Do you like the book? Why or why not?
- Do you believe it reflects a “biblical” vision of Christianity? Why or why not?
- If you like it, does it have weaknesses (does the book overlook something)?
If so, identify and discuss it.
- If you do not like it, does it nonetheless possess some positive points?
If so, identify and discuss them.

2. Argument:

- Write a detailed and coherent essay that describes the content of the book and your evaluation of it.
- Organize the book in a way that reflects thoughtful progression from description to analysis and interaction.

3. Presentation:

- Write a stylistically clean essay—e.g., avoid first person discourse, colloquialisms.
- Length: minimum of five and maximum of seven double-spaced pages in 12 point Times New Roman font.
- Document additional sources with footnotes and follow the MacDiv Style Guide. References from the book may be placed in parentheses in the text, for example (Miller, 34).

C. Critical Comparison Essay (DUE November 2):

- This assignment provides the opportunity to apply critical reflection skills to the systematic theology texts you chose to read. You will compare and contrast the two texts on a specific topic of your choosing.

1. Content:

The essay includes, at least, the following parts:

- Analysis and description (highlighting continuities and discontinuities) of the two theological texts.
E.g. regarding the role of the Holy Spirit in Baptist and Pentecostal soteriology:
“Grenz argues that Spirit baptism is a metaphor of conversion based on the following reasons. Yong or Macchia argues that Spirit baptism is a more comprehensive image based on the following reasons.”
- Discussion of the strengths and weaknesses of the treatment of the topic in the two texts.

2. Argument:

- a. Write a detailed and coherent essay that describes the topic under review in the two books and your evaluation of their respective treatments of the topic.
- b. Organize the book in a way that reflects thoughtful progression from description to analysis and interaction.

3. Presentation:

- a. Write a detailed and coherent essay that details the views of the selected authors and your evaluation of them.
- b. Write a stylistically clean essay—e.g., avoid first person discourse, colloquialisms
- c. Length: approx. 5-7 double-spaced pages in 12 point Times New Roman font.
- d. Document additional sources with footnotes and follow the MacDiv Style Guide. References from the books may be placed in parentheses in the text, for example (Grenz, 34).

D. Christian Formation Reflection Essay (DUE November 23):

The Christian Formation Reflection Essay enables students to fulfill the objective of identifying and describing the dynamic and personal nature of theology. They accomplish this by tracking, during the semester, the development of their understanding of a theological topic/doctrine and its impact on their understanding of embodying the Christian faith.

Issues that you might address include the following . . .

- What is a Christian understanding of creation and eschatology and how do they relate to environmental concerns?
- What does it mean to be in but not of the world (John 17:13-19)? Should churches be involved with politics and social issues?
- What does it mean, “to be saved”?
- What is the relationship between prayer and God’s foreknowledge, between human initiative and divine providence?
- What is the nature of the human? Holistic? Body, soul, spirit? How does our view influence the way we approach ministry, discipleship, and our lives in this world?

1. Content:

Methodological steps for developing the essay

- a. First, detail your thoughts on the selected theological topic within the first week of the semester in order to obtain an accurate description of your views prior to reflecting on the issue in the course. You do not need turn in this part, but please do it.

- b. Second, record/journal references to the theological issue heard in songs, worship, conversations, sermons, readings, lectures, etc. You should start your record as soon as possible. Include in your record a brief description of the theology explicitly or implicitly assumed in the statement. Your thoughts and reactions to the statement will also be helpful for the third part of the assignment.

Examples:

■ Topic: Creation and the environment.

A popular worship song contains the words, "...the universe declares your majesty, you are Holy, Holy..." This affirms the revelatory nature of creation. If creation declares the majesty of God, does this have implications for a Christian environmental ethic? Perhaps environmental involvement is a "spiritual" activity.

■ Topic: Theological anthropology/embodied existence.

A pastor said, "I can't wait to leave this bag of bones behind and go to heaven." Does his statement marginalize the embodied nature of human existence and the body itself? Does it conflict with the creation narrative and thus a legitimate Christian anthropology? Does it perhaps reflect a gnostic strain in popular evangelical Christianity?

- c. Third, write a revised essay that reflects any changes, nuances, and developments in your thoughts relative to the initial draft of the essay.

The essay should contain at least the following parts:

- a) The first part of the essay summarizes, first, your view of the theological topic (cut and paste from the first draft) described in the first stage of this assignment and second, the findings from your record keeping.
- b) In the second part of the essay, you construct and write your revised understanding of the theological issue. You should interact with your earlier outlined view and the perspectives you have recorded throughout the semester.

2. Argument:

- a. Write a detailed and coherent essay that details ways your perspective has been challenged, developed, and/or nuanced on a theological topic over the course of the semester.
- b. Integrate assigned and other readings, discussions, etc. into your essay.
- c. Adherence to the methodological steps.

3. Presentation:

- a. Write a stylistically clean essay. You can use first person discourse, but you should avoid colloquialisms and observe grammatical rules.
- b. Length: approx. five double-spaced pages in 12 point Times New Roman font.
- c. Document sources with footnotes and follow the MacDiv Style Guide.

E. Reading (DUE December 7):

1. Reading assignments introduce students to documents of Christian theological reflection and facilitate attaining all of the learning objectives. You should read the sections of the systematic theologies that correspond to the lecture topic outline in the syllabus.

- The professor may at times assign supplementary readings.

VII. Policies:

A. Textbook Purchase:

All required textbooks for this class are available from the College's book service, READ On Bookstore, Room 218, McMaster Divinity College. Texts may be purchased on the first day of class. For advance purchase, you may contact READ On Bookstores, 304 The East Mall, Suite 100, Etobicoke, ON M9C 5K1: phone 416-620-2934; fax 416-622-2308; e-mail books@readon.ca. Other book services may also carry the texts.

B. Academic Honesty:

Academic dishonesty is a serious offence that may take any number of forms, including plagiarism, the submission of work that is not one's own or for which previous credit has been obtained, and/or unauthorized collaboration with other students. Academic dishonesty can result in severe consequences, e.g., failure of the assignment, failure of the course, a notation on one's academic transcript, and/or suspension or expulsion from the College.

Students are responsible for understanding what constitutes academic dishonesty. Please refer to the Divinity College Statement on Academic Honesty ~ www.madciv.ca/regs/honesty.php.

C. Gender Inclusive Language:

McMaster Divinity College uses inclusive language for human beings in worship services, student written materials, and all of its publications. In reference to biblical texts, the integrity of the original expressions and the names of God should be respected. The NRSV and TNIV are examples of the use of inclusive language for human beings. It is expected that inclusive language will be used in chapel services and all MDC assignments.

VIII. Late-Assignment and Exam Policy:

A. Assignments are due at the beginning of class on the date specified in the syllabus.

B. Students take exams on the date and at the time scheduled in the syllabus.

C. Late assignments are reduced five percentage points for each day late (e.g., if the grade is 90 and it is one day late, the grade will be reduced to 85).

- D. Assignments and exams will be accepted without penalty after the specified date in the syllabus only in the case of an excused absence. If a student misses an exam or assignment submission due to a reason that he/she believes is excusable, then he/she must notify the instructor and schedule an exam date and/or late-assignment submission date within twenty-four hours of the beginning of the missed class session.
- E. Assignments and exams will not be accepted late on the basis of the student's involvement with school-approved activities. If you are not able to be in class for an exam or assignment submission, then you must pre-arrange with the instructor to take the exam and/or submit the assignment before the scheduled date in the syllabus.
- F. Open communication is the best policy. If you think you will have trouble submitting an assignment or taking an exam due to health issues and/or unexpected life circumstances, please contact the instructor as soon as possible so that we can make the appropriate arrangements in order to make your course experience a successful one and so that you earn the best possible grade for your hard work.

Please Note: This syllabus is the property of the instructor and is prepared with currently available information. The instructor reserves the right to make changes and revisions up to and including the first day of class.
